Ways to Save

If you were a native of Malaita in the Solomons you would carry your "savings" in a "dilly bag" hung under your arm. Your "wealth" would consist of strings of dog teeth, and betel nuts.

Betel nuts are about the size and color of small limes, and tho they stain the teeth bright red, they are divided into small bits and held in the front of the mouth. The slow trickle of betel juice acts as a stimulant.

Your savings in Malaita would steadily get smaller . . . but here in Jacksonville they constantly grow. Your Jacksonville Savings & Loan Association pays you a profit on your savings, and you can add to them as you please. Stop in and let us explain.

First Two Men Leave Under New Draft Law

Hubert John Fricke of Chapin route 1 and William B. Hall of Murphysville route 2 are the first Morgan county men to be drafted and inducted into the armed forces under the new selective service law.

Fricke, 23 years old, and Hall, 24, left at 6:45 o'clock Monday morning by bus for Springfield, where they were scheduled for induction at the Army main station at 204 East Adams street. Their future destination where they will undergo training was not known to local selective service officials. Two more Morgan county men are scheduled for induction on Dec. 2.

Induction of the first two Morgan county men Monday was in sharp contrast to the induction of big contingents during wartime several years ago. During the war the contingents reported at selective service headquarters on West State street, and later responded to roll call at the American Legion Home. Fricke and Hall got away without any fanfare, however. They departed quietly for Springfield to become part of the peacetime army. Fricke was appointed leader of the contingent of two, a formality required under the draft law.

JULIA'S STORY: "Julia" tells us her name is really Bonny Castle. She traveled the river boats as partner of a crooked gambler. "And what of Julia? The other Julia, the actual one?" he asks. "I've come to that now," she says.

XXVII

SHE drew a deep breath. "We used to go down about once a month, never more often. It wouldn't have been prudent. Stop a while, and then go up again. We left St. Louis the 18th of May the last time, on the CITY OF NEW ORLEANS."

"As she said."

She nodded. "The first night out something went wrong. My partner met his match at last. The game kept on for half the night, and he lost steadily. I couldn't signal because I couldn't see the other man's cards. He seemed to play from memory, keeping them turned inward to one another face to face. At last my partner had nothing left to play with."

"But long before that, hours earlier, the other man had already asked me to leave the two of them to themselves. Pointedly, but in such a polite way that there was nothing I could do but obey."

"I went out on deck and stood looking over the rail. Presently a woman, unaccompanied like myself, stopped beside me and struck up a conversation."

"She was a fool. Within the space of minutes she was telling me all her business, unsolicited. Who she was, where she was bound, what her purpose in going there was."

"I tried to shake her off at first, but without succeeding. She attached herself to me, followed me around. It was as though she were starving for a confidante. She gave me your name, and, stopping by a lighted doorway, insisted on taking out and showing me the picture you had sent her."

"You want?"

"I want. What could I do? I went to her door and I knocked, and when she called out, startled, to ask who it was, I remember answering in honeyed tones to reassure her, 'It's your new little friend, Miss Charlotte.' "You had that name upon the boat?"

"For that voyage. She opened at once, so great was her trust in me. I delivered my invitation. I complained of a headache and said I thought the fresh air might cure it. I asked if she would walk with me on deck for a while."

"I REMEMBER I was strangely uneasy, as to what his intentions might be—oh, I knew he boded her no good, but I didn't dare allow myself to believe he meant her any actual bodily harm; some intricate blackmailing scheme, at most, I thought, to be brought to bear on her later, once she was married to you—and even as I spoke, I kept hoping she would refuse me, and I could give him that for an excuse. But she seemed to have become inordinately fond of me. Before I could ask her twice she had already accepted, her face all alight with pleasure at my seeking her out."

His interest had been trapped in spite of himself. "And then?"

"We walked the full length of the deck three times, in harmonious intimacy, as women will together." She stopped for a moment and drew a breath, as if again feeling the tension of that night, that promenade upon the lonely, darkened deck.

"Nothing happened. He did not accost us. At last I had no further excuse to keep her out there with me. She asked me how my headache was, and I said it was gone."

"I took her back to her door. She turned to me a moment and said, 'I'm so glad we've met, Charlotte. I've never really had a woman friend of my very own. You must come and see me and my—' and then she faltered prettily—'my new husband, visit with us, as soon as we're settled. I shall want new friends badly in my new life.' And then she opened her door and went in. Unharmful, untouched. I even heard her bolt it fast after her on the inside."

"And that was the last I ever saw of her."

Prague—(P)—A new cigarette paper with a glass fiber that may attract foreign purchasers has been announced here. The newspaper "Mlada Fronta" (Youth Front) said the paper is the product of a paper mill at Vrané.

Marines Land In China—It's Their 30th Beachhead There Since 1820

Outside the U. S. Legation at Peking, China, in 1927, this Marine guard for American property was already an old story in the Orient. (U. S. Marine Corps Photo.)

By NEA Service
Washington—NEA—The Marines have landed in China again. The crisis is a new one—the Communist sweep through northern China, but the operation is an old story.

It's the 30th time since 1820 the Leathernecks have gone ashore in China for their traditional mission of safeguarding American lives and property on foreign soil.

The 1250 Marines from the First Provisional Marine Brigade at Guam who landed from the USS Bayfield at Tsingtao this month augment 3600 others already there in evacuating American nationals. They followed in the footsteps of Marines who have helped maintain order in the midst of two revolutions, the Sino-Japanese war, and countless minor rebellions and riots during the Corps' long service in the Orient.

In all that time the Marines were drawn into actual field operations in only one disorder—the bitter Boxer Rebellion of 1900.

China's long record of internal disorders has been marked by frequent waves of anti-foreign sentiment, particularly under the Manchurian dynasty which preceded the present government.

In 1820 the United States opened trade with China, and Marines, wearing the leather neck guards of that time, were attached to the East India Squadron based at Hong Kong. During the next 100 years it was necessary to land Marines more than 30 times to perform the Corps' traditional function of safeguarding American lives and property threatened on foreign soil.

By 1898 anti-foreign sentiment had increased to such an extent that a Marine guard was established at the Imperial City of Peking (now called Peiping) to protect the American Legation there. This guard was with-drawn in 1899. The following year the Boxer Rebellion began and Peiping was surrounded by the roused Boxer forces, bearing banners which read, "Exterminate the foreigners and save the dynasty!"

Marines helped the Allied Relief Expedition capture Tientsin and rescue an American naval force surrounded there, and the Marine unit led the successful attack on the ancient walls of Peiping, capturing the main gate from Boxer forces which vastly outnumbered the Allied expedition.

Marines were assigned to the Legation Guard in Peiping again in 1905, and remained on duty there until the start of World War II. Beginning in 1925 Marines were stationed at Shanghai to protect the Americans in the International Settlement. Allied troops also were placed in the Tientsin-Peiping area during Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's campaign against the war lords in Northern China in 1927.

At the beginning of World War II the Fourth Regiment, known as the "China Marines," was withdrawn from the International Settlement at Shanghai and took part in the defense of Bataan and Corregidor. The 500-man guard at Peiping was captured.

In 1945 the Marines returned to China to enforce the surrender of large Japanese elements there. Several hundred thousand Japanese were disarmed and repatriated during the following year. Marine forces were gradually demobilized and returned to the United States, but growing hostilities between Nationalist and Communist forces led to the retention of Marine units.

These units were employed to guard railways and mines essential to providing food and fuel to the starving cities of North China, and to form "cease-fire" teams during the unsuccessful truce between Nationalists and Reds.

Agriculture Experts Study Effort Of Television On U.S. Farm Life

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—Television is expected to revolutionize life on the farm.

Theoretically video stations only have a short, 50-mile range. And there are only 45 of them operating in the U.S. today. Nevertheless, it is estimated that close to 7,000,000 farm families could now receive television programs—if they all had receivers.

Within a year Ohio, with 12 or more stations operating, is expected to become the first state in which every farmer, regardless of where he lives, will have television programs available to him. The experts believe that it might be 10 years before television programs blanket all U.S. rural areas to the extent radio does now. But they agree that television will extend service to farmers faster than radio ever did.

Since television recently began its phenomenal boom, dealers have reported an ever-increasing number of farmers buying video sets. In the east and in some midwest states television antennas are becoming almost as common on farm houses as lightning rods. The unprecedented farm prosperity and record crops this fall have gotten the farmer interested in this new and entertaining form of communications because he can afford to buy a set.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is now making a study of how television might affect American farm life. Kenneth M. Gopen, U.S. official directing the project says:

"Television is the greatest medium for education and entertainment of U.S. farmers that has ever come along. It can revolutionize farm life by bringing every form of culture and education that is available to people in the city right into the farmers' homes."

One advertiser foresees the day when farmers will buy practically all of their clothing and household goods from television displays. Items would be flashed on the screen and numbered in this modern version of the mail-order business which has always accounted for a big part of farm buying.

Television's spread to the farm could bring "every form of culture and education...right into the farmers' homes." Classes taught by television might even make it possible for youngsters to stay in bed and still go to school.

Gopen is hopeful that television will improve education for farm children. Classes taught by television could solve the problem of the rural teacher shortage. One teacher could teach hundreds of students. And a rural school with a television set could offer many more kinds of courses.

Before television made such great technical strides it was believed its 50-mile range would limit it to persons living in or very close to cities.

Since then, however, several factors have changed that concept. It is being discovered that television beams do strange things. In some directions they carry much greater distances than 50 miles. For no explainable reason it has been discovered, for instance, that there is excellent reception in Indianapolis of some video programs which come from Chicago, a distance of more than 150 miles.

By building the television transmitters five or 10 miles outside the heart of a city, a great many farm communities are added to the stations' potential audience and the city reception isn't affected. This possibility is being generally recognized in the construction of new video transmitters.

The growth of television networks has provided the greatest extension of video programs to rural areas by permitting the operation of stations in smaller towns. Next January Chicago will be linked to the east coast by coaxial cable. It means that all the networks of the midwest can be hooked up with the networks of the east. Smaller stations will be able to cut down on operating expenses by not having to produce all of their own programs in their own studios.

So far the Department of Agriculture has confined its television programs to those which are of general interest to all people. They deal with such subjects as how to prepare food and what foods are in season. When more farmers buy sets, however, it is expected that a great many programs will be planned especially for farm audiences. And it is believed that at the same time many commercial programs will be aimed directly at the farm market.

Chuck Bednarik Named Prominent By Maxwell Club

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 — (AP) — Charles (Chuck) Bednarik, University of Pennsylvania's All-American center, today was named the outstanding football player of 1947 by the Maxwell club.

At the same time, the Philadelphia Eagles of the National football league announced selection of Bednarik as their all-star draft choice.

Bednarik is the first lineman to be named winner of the Maxwell trophy. Others included Southern Methodist's Doug Walker, the 47 recipient; Glen Davis and Felix Blanchard, both of Army, and Georgia's Charley Trippi.

He will receive the award at the club's annual dinner Jan. 11.

The Eagles won the right to deal with the 233-pound center in the NFL's recent all-star draft draw. The two previous winners of the draw—Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins—did not participate under the win-and-out system.

Bednarik came to Penn from Bethlehem (Pa.) high school. He graduates from Penn in June.

Sauer Discloses Remodeling Navy Before Army Game

Washington, Nov. 29 — (AP) — Coach George Sauer of the Navy disclosed today that he remodeled his team's formation before the Army game.

"Our scouts always came back with the same report: Army has blinding speed," Sauer told members of Washington's Touchdown club.

"I knew, with that speed, that if they had the ball, it would be a long afternoon for us."

"So we decided to mix our T formation with some single wing blocking assignments. We had been using one man to take out one of them, but we decided to use two men on one. This meant we'd be satisfied to get four or five yards at a crack."

And was that strategy responsible for Navy's surprising 21-21 tie?

"We had the ball on 73 running plays to Army's 48, and we had 12 pass plays to Army's 10. We controlled the ball three-fourths of the time."

But Sauer hastily pointed out that it was the fighting spirit of Navy, not the coaches, which made the tie possible.

"We coaches didn't have to do a thing. The boys keyed themselves up. I've never seen anything like it."

"You know, when you've been kicked around like we were all season, well, I want to say I admire those boys of ours. They had played hard all season, and they had their noses rubbed in the dirt."

"I had no idea that these kids could arise to the occasion."

Sauer ducked the question: "Do you think Notre Dame could beat Michigan?"

"I think it would be a good game," he said.

But the navy players were polled by the Washington Evening Star, and they voted Notre Dame the No. 1 team in the nation.

They put Michigan second, California third and Army fourth.

See Lost Dog's Picture On Sunday Paper's Sport Page

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 29 — (AP) — It came as quite a surprise to the Frank H. Grahams to discover that Butch was in the big-time football.

Butch is the Graham's five-year-old fox terrier. He has been missing from the Graham home since last Monday.

Imagine the Grahams' surprise when they opened the Sunday paper to see Butch's picture right smack in the middle of the sports page.

There Butch was right in between the Auburn and Clemson football teams trying to get the ball away from the referee. The officials had to halt the game until Butch could be shooed off the field.

"Butch is simply crazy about football," Graham said. "He likes to run the ball down, grab it by the lace and run from goal to goal."

The Grahams immediately started a hunt around the stadium for their missing pooch.

Orange Bowl Picks Texas To Oppose Georgia Jan. 1

New York, Nov. 29 — (AP) — The Orange Bowl picked Texas to oppose Georgia at Miami Jan. 1 and programs were completed today in two smaller bowls.

The Texas Longhorns, who have won six games, lost three and tied one, will be making a trip to their third major bowl. They played in the Sugar Bowl last year and in the Cotton Bowl three times previously.

With the Miami program set, the four major Bowl programs are now complete.

Trinidad Junior College of Colorado accepted an invitation to meet Northeastern (Okla.) in the second annual Salt Bowl at Hutchinson, Kan., Saturday.

The Salad Bowl committee invited Arizona to meet Drake University at Phoenix, Ariz., New Year's Day. The Arizona players will vote to decide acceptance.

Meanwhile, Villanova College said it is considering an offer to play Nevada in the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Calif. The game is Jan. 1.

Harbor Bowl sponsors said an invitation has been extended Navy.

Officials of the Clear Bowl at Tampa, Fla., announced they were having trouble finding a suitable opponent for unbeaten Missouri Valley College. The choice has narrowed down to three teams — Bowling Green (Ohio), St. Thomas (Minn.) and Wofford (South Carolina).

Another post-season game was being considered in the south.

Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Tennessean, said Vanderbilt may play Tulane in Mobile's new 36,000 Capacity Stadium Dec. 30.

Here's the lineup of the major bowls:

Economist Commends Farm Organizations

Illinois farmers are to be commended, says L. H. Simerl, University of Illinois agricultural economist, for the "constructive steps" taken by two of their organizations: the Illinois Agriculture association and the National Grange.

At their recent conventions these two groups went on record in favor of flexible price supports at moderate levels. In effect they approved the principles of the long-time price support legislation as passed by Congress and approved by the president last summer.

A considerable number of farmers, particularly those from grain and cotton sections, assert they are opposed to the flexible formula. They are asking for revision of the farm measure by the next Congress. Price supports of principle commodities at 90% of parity is sought by many. Simerl disagrees with this group.

His Permanent Basis.

"These organizations might easily have taken less wise positions. For example, they might have demanded that the wartime price supports at 90% of parity be made permanent.

Hoagland-Spotts Piano Recital Heard Sunday

A large and appreciative audience was on hand to receive the duo piano recital presented Sunday afternoon in Music Hall, MacMurray College, by Miss Charlotte Hoagland and Gaylord Spotts.

Both Miss Hoagland and Mr. Spotts are pupils of Elizabeth Blackburn Martin, and are both accomplished musicians in their own right. Miss Hoagland is an eighth grade student, while Mr. Spotts is a freshman at Jacksonville high school.

Their recital Sunday evidenced a maturity and understanding not common to two so young. Included on the program, which was the first duo piano recital ever to be given by the junior department, were three concertos and numbers by Saint Saens and Debussy.

As an encore they played Mexican Folk Dance, arranged by Morton Gould.

This was the first in a series of three recitals which are to be given before the Christmas holidays by members of the junior department. The other recitals will be presented Dec. 15 and 16.

Pastoral Helpers Present Program At Chapin Church

Chapin—The November meeting of the Pastoral Helpers was held at the Christian church with Mrs. Laura Nergenh and Mrs. Verna Schone hostesses. Eleven members answered roll call with a Thanksgiving menu. Prayer was given by Mrs. Edna Mattes, and Miss Irene Hamilton read the scripture. The president, Mrs. Lina Detmer, presided during the meeting.

The program consisted of poems and articles pertaining to Thanksgiving which were presented by Miss Adelia Hamilton, Mrs. Elva Thorndike and Mrs. Phyllis Hamilton.

Four 4-H Champs Win Scholarships For Project Work

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Four young men who've made names for themselves by feeding livestock took time out, slicked down their hair, and let admirers treat them at a special feed tonight.

They are the 1948 national winners in the 4-H meat animal contest. And the high spot of a banquet given them by Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of Wilson and Co., packers, was presentation of a $200 scholarship to each.

The contest winners are Chester Hughton, 18, of Albany, Ore.; Ewell Bickham, Jr., 17, of Jackson, La.; Howard Allen King, 20, Tekonsha, Mich.; and Harry Lee Schneider, 18, Seguin, Tex.

Hughton, an eight-year 4-H veteran, has 100 ewes and this year fed and marketed 127 swine. He had the best Chester White project at the Oregon state fair, and has shown several champions from his herds.

Bickham, a 4-H member for seven years, has developed a breeding herd of 23 beef cattle and has a record as exhibitor and judge in cattle contests. He has shown champions at the Louisiana state fair the last three years.

King has been in 4-H work 10 years and has developed a 30-head breeding herd of beef cattle. This year he fed and cared for 65 hogs and 50 sheep. He has won several show contests and was a member of the state champion livestock judging team.

Schneider, another eight-year man, has fed and sold a herd of 15 Aberdeen-Angus cattle and developed a herd of 70 Duroc swine. Like the others, he has won ribbons with his best animals. And he has given 27 talks at community and school meetings on 4-H work.

MaryLouHubbard, Max Dean Hallock Wed At White Hall

White Hall—The First Baptist church of White Hall was the scene of an impressive wedding Sunday afternoon when Miss Mary Lou Hubbard, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Hubbard of White Hall, became the bride of Max Dean Hallock of Arcola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hallock of Hillview.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ben Bohn before a flower-banked altar. Preceding the ceremony candles were lighted by Miss Janet Price, niece of the bride. Miss Betty Neil Moles of White Hall was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Bohn.

Members of the bridal party were Miss Betty Hubbard, Mrs. Dorothy Craig and Mrs. Wayne Hallock, bridesmaids; Miss Maurine Hallock, maid of honor; Arthur Hallock, best man; and Bud Schultz, Carroll Lee Hallock and Wayne Hallock, groomsmen and ushers.

The women in the wedding party were attired in pastel shades of taffeta and wore shoulder length veils. They carried colonial bouquets.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lorenzo Keith Hubbard. Her gown was of white tulle, parent velvet designed with a lace yoke, drop shoulder, long sleeves pointed over the hands and fitted bodice trimmed with tiny white pearls. The full gathered skirt was made entrain. The fingertip veil of net and lace was held in place by a coronet of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible, topped with white orchid and white satin streamers. The Bible was a gift of Miss Hattie Walton. A rhinestone necklace, her only jewelry, was a gift of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement. The four-tiered bridal cake was served by Mrs. Shirley Westledge and Mrs. Harold Berg. Mrs. Lloyd Stowatt presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Stanley Tribble was in charge of the guest register.

Following the reception the couple departed on a wedding trip through the eastern states. Upon their return, they will reside in their country home near Arcola, where the groom is engaged in farming.
